

The children have made us all proud by showing resilience and adaptability in their behaviour and attitudes towards the class swaps and transition activities this week. We can see they are all ready for the next challenge and look forward to a successful year for all children wherever they are going.

We expect children and families to have a break from school and routine over the summer, but it helps to keep up some of the expectations going, such as sharing stories each day and if possible some independent reading. Sadly, we can't allow children to take home school books over the summer as these are a precious resource and tend to get misplaced over the long break, but can recommend Oxford Owl as a good online source of books. To incentivise reading (and get families visiting the local library) the library Summer Reading Challenge is back again this year with an opportunity for children to earn a medal by reading 6 books by the start of the new school term. There is more information below from Mrs Hibbard and in the attached letter. The challenge is being launched on 6th July...so get reading!

Please take time to read the curriculum update and important messages this week, both sections contain really important information.

Have a good weekend.

Kind Regards,

Gemma Fricker

Curriculum Update:

Online Safety Curriculum update

We are seeing more and more children in school talking about computer games and TV programs that are not always age appropriate. This can also be reflected in their games at playtime, things they draw and write about and in fears they share. Therefore in our class assembly time this week we have all talked about how we can 'pause, breathe and finish up'. We have watched this video: <https://youtu.be/mq2lNs6PQqs> and also looked at how we can recognise when it is time to take a break from technology.

Lots of children were able to talk about how they have a limit on the amount of screen time they are allowed at home and we hope this will be a good time to revisit this with your children and support them in saying goodbye to their devices when asked.

There is all kinds of information out there if you are looking for advice on online safety linked below:

Also Common Sense Media is a fantastic resource for parents to be able to find out detail about the age ratings and a breakdown of this for most apps, games and films

Another great week of children 'reading for the stars!'

Congratulations everyone!

Please come along to our final fundraiser of this academic year- drinks and ice cream in the playground! Second hand uniform will also be for sale.

If anyone can help with sales, we just need a couple more people to help out on the day.

Thanks

Important Messages:

Strike Days

School will be closed on both Wednesday 5th and Friday 7th due to teacher industrial action. We thank you for your understanding.

Please note there will not be a Bulletin next Friday due to school closures. Dates in the 'Coming up' section in this edition will span both weeks.

Return of school reading books and library books

Please ensure that all reading books, reading for pleasure book corner books and library books are returned to your class teacher by Tuesday 4th July. Thank you for your cooperation.

Summer Reading Challenge 2023

Please see the information below provided by Bristol Libraries. We hope you enjoy getting involved. Please bring in your medal (named) on Friday 8th September so that we can celebrate your summer reading achievements. We're also setting a 'Get Caught Summer Reading' challenge for all children. Please bring in a photo of you enjoying reading with anything, or anywhere that feels like summer to you!
