Headteacher update:

A sea of red noses/hair/wigs or outfits was a bright and fitting end to a lovely week in school. Learning, play and behaviour across the school was a pleasure to observe with a real buzz of happiness everywhere. We had monitoring day supported by a LA School Improvement Officer on Tuesday and he was very complimentary about the way that strong relationships, a calm environment and children's desire to learn was something that is a true strength of our school. It was great to have fresh eyes to reflect back these positive aspects to us as we so often focus on things we want to improve, we forget to celebrate the strengths.

I hope to see some of you at tonight's FHIS Quiz and Curry event. I've drafted in Mr Fricker to help the staff team as I hear the parents are a competitive bunch!

Have a good weekend

Kind Regards,

Gemma
